

DO YOU KNOW WHY YOUR CUSTOMERS ARE CALLING?

HIDDEN GAPS

Do you know where the gaps are in your customer journey? Most organizations don't. Assessing your customer journey for hidden AI and automation gaps is critical to delivering great customer experience with 90% call containment, increasing revenue, staying competitive, and accelerating ROI.

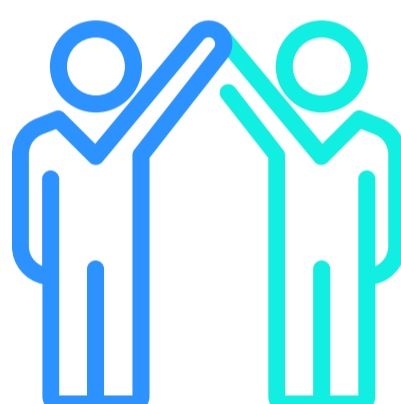

IMAGINE THIS

While reviewing your customer journey, you learn that your organization:

- Has 500K annual customer interactions
- Can save $5 per interaction by implementing AI-powered automation
- The result? Immediate $2.5M savings

IT'S SIMPLE

Discovering the gaps in your customer journey is simple when you partner with IntelPeer on a complimentary Customer Interaction Intent Study.

Engaging in an intent study is easy:

1. Meet with IntelPeer leadership to review your business objectives.
2. An IntelPeer expert dives into the intent study process. They will:

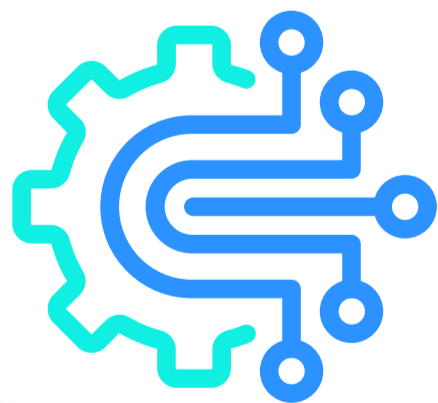

Setup & capture
AI analysis of and a detailed report regarding the reasons behind customers' interactions with your business.

Transcribe & redact
Automated transcription and anonymization of the data to ensure security and meet compliance requirements.

Review & readout
Identification of automation opportunities and the subsequent, addressable ROI.

The outcome
An automation journey roadmap that pinpoints where to start and the best path to ROI.

3. Meet with IntelPeer to discuss their findings and receive their recommended approach to transforming your organization with AI-powered automation.

MEET DEMAND

AI-powered automation is the key to meeting customer demands and staying competitive in 2024. The complimentary intent study is valued at $25K – and only 25 are available.
